

Teachers - Clarification on Credits for Moving Across the Pay Schedule

In order to receive credits to move across the teacher salary schedule, the class must be a graduate level class.

A graduate credit counts for both recertification of the teacher's license and movement across the schedule. A recertification credit only counts towards the teacher's license renewal. The class should say graduate hours or recertification on the transcript to help individuals know which classification to use.

It is preferred that the graduate level class provides a letter grade rather than pass/fail.
